Sebate of an hour, during which Governor Van Zandt, of Rhode Island, with great dignity, protested against the convention becoming a mob. In the course of the recrimination it was charged and admitted that the chairman, who had ruled against the inviolability of the unit rule, had himself drawn the unit resolution for the delegation which he was breaking up.

Then Vice-Chairman Pomeroy assumed the mallet while the chairman retired with his delegation for consultation. It devolved upon Mr. Pomeroy to put the vote on the reconsideration of the unit ruling, which was done by a call of states, with the result of 350 to 359 favoring reconsideration. Then "Bob" Ingersoll made an impassioned appeal, in which occurred this sentence: "I tell you that we cannot afford to go to this country upon the idea that a delegate from a state can be forced against his will and conscience to vote for a man that he does not believe his own immediate constituents want." Governor Van Zandt made this point: "These gentlemen who now desire to vote for a mother candidate under stood those instructions when they accepted their positions, and they are bound by them." A vote by states of 395 to 353 sustained the right of individual, voting as against instructions from state conventions. During the third ballot Blaine fell off three votes, on the fourth one vote than when he began. On the sixth ballot he rose to 306, which was 12 votes nearer the commation than he had before attained

THE ARTI GRANT PEOPLE INDULGING IN NEW HOPES.

CHICAGO, June 1.—The sly wink of Sens-CHICAGO, June 1.—The sly wink of Senator Logan, the ponderous advice of Senator Conkling and the crafty suggestions of Senator Cameron have combined to make the day heavy with secret movements; and swift flight through hotel corridors, active buzzing in the lobby, and hushed conferences in dark and secluded spots, suggest that a hard fight and a determined one is not very far ahead. The anti-Grant sentiment seems to have gained new impulse from this situation, or from the fact that it now appears that the third-termers have made desperate misstatements respecting the southern delegations. Thus they have claimed about the whole of the North Carolina delegation, while its chairman, in an interview to-night, states that it stands, Sherman 16, Grant 4. The South Carolina delegation, which has been declared for Grant; does really stand 7 for Sherman and 7 for Grant. The Alabama delegation will raise a terrific rumpus rather than obey its Grant instructions, and several delegates have already kicked over the traces.

indicated that there would be warm time and an immense turnout of the unterrified democracy. At the court-house the signs were not so promising and when the city court-room opened and the crowd entered there was rather a meagre showing compared with former occasions of like character.

Preliminary to the organization of the meeting there was considerable talk and goesip, but nothing of a very excited character. It soon became apparent that a good deal of the alarm and virtuous indignation of the evening previous, anent the manner of calling the meeting, had been unnecessary or, at least, ill-timed.

The County Meeting Yesterday.
There was some sharp skirmishing in the county convention on yesterday, and the adjournment was probably as good as course, under the circumstances, as could have been taken. There are a few reflections we desire to offer, however.

It may as well be understood now as later, that the people will not be satisfied with the plan suggested on yesterday of letting a committee go out and bring in names to be voted on. It must be a free fight, and an open one, just such a one as Mr. Hoke Smith contended for yesterday. By the way, Mr. Smith met the instinuions that had been circument to the instinuions that had been circument to the instinuions that had been circumented to concerning his being interested in a ficket that was to be smuggled through by demanding from first to less that the delegates abould be balloted for and the polls kept open until every man who wanted to vote had had a chance to do so. In fact, it was soon form that instead of being in favor of the committee, not in the process by which delegates are usually made, he opposed that method when of fered by others and demanded a fair and open poll of the voters of Feiton. He stated that he did not fear such a race, and he has little need to fear it. Instead and the subject of the propagation of the discuss the probable propose and he has little need to fear it. Instead the hall he did not fear such a race, and the lattent of the probable propose and he has little need to fear it. Instead the subject of the pople of the propile of the propile contents of the approaching campaign, our contemporary cannot afford, as an independent of the probablities and overlas of the delegates are usually made, he opposed that method when of fered by others and demanded a fair and open poll of the voters of Feiton. He stated that he did not fear such a race, and the subject of the polls the fear of the probablities and overlas of the delegates are usually made, he opposed that he did not fe open poll of the voters of Fulton. He stated that he did not fear such a race, and he has little need to fear it. Instead of indorsing the rumors that Mr. Smith had fixed up a ticket or that he was interested in fixing up one, we happen to know that he did not desire to go to the convention, that he only consented to run at the solicitation of a friend, and insisted all the time that a fair, open ballot must be taken—refusing to go in on the shoulders of a committee appointed by the chair.

In seventees the problem of the norih in the face of such an attempt. To be sure, we know and the country knows, what that stitinde would be but at the taken that a fair, open ballot must be taken—refusing to go in on the shoulders of a committee appointed by the chair.

In sweetest of recent affairs in the metropolis was the parade of the New York coaching club. Pete Lorillard and Gus Belmont looked well, but the observed of all observers was Colonel Delanny Kans, the well-known Raglish hostler, who have no committee, but an open and aquare appeal to the people.

But the New Hampshire belily proved too weak for the purpose of the purpose of the grand even now there is very little information to be gained from them. The temporary challents will be given to the floor to-day. To-day's fight will practically settle the grand even in the purpose of the given to the purpose of the grand even in the bill proved too weak for the purpose when tested in the courts, and the bound had been very rapid of late. In 1870, when Mr. Forster's set came into operation, the scholars numbered 1,689,059; now they number 3,710, 883. These 25,000 teachers' were employed, now there are 72,000. In 1873 there were only 8,281 schools, now there are 17,166. These and many other grant-tyling facts were lately presented by Mr. trade and profits from every section of the contracted. ## SKIN HUMOR.

Covering the Upper Part of the Body. Skin Copper-Colored.

Messr. Werks & Pottrs: Gentlemen—have been affilted with a troublesome ski disease, covering almost completely the upper and of my body, causing my skin to assume copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off lik part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-coinced nue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, at times causing intolerable itching; and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the furricus a Rements, which, although used careleasly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the trust of this statement. Respectfully.

being the best way to have the matter worked up?

Ma Whenn—A public meeting should be called at as an early day as possible, at which proper committees should be appointed who should go to work at once. The most prominent men throughout the country should be invited, and the Cincinnati nominee should be here it possible. I repeat that if the citizens will come forward and assist, it will be a grand day for Atlanta. There should be a firemen's parade and a military parade, and any other attractions the committees may suggest.

any other attractions the committees may suggest.

Reported—I am very much obliged, and the Western and Atlantic railroad shall be counted as a co-laborer in the movement. Good morning.

THE ATLANTA AND WEST POINT RAILROAD as usual, will bring a vast crowd here, but is anxious to be able to offer them some entertainment of an unusual kind, and if this can be done the usual crowd of 4000 brought on such days over this road will be doubled. The rate from West Point of Atlanta and return will be only $150. Intermediate points will have cheaper rates in proportion to their distance.

interview me about the new post-office?"

"What about it now?"

"Well, the new building will be finished by Saturday night—that is, the tiling will be completed, and that will finish it up. The furniture has been ordered by the freasury department, and the contract is that it is to be in by the 15th of June. Now about the gas fixtures, they are not like the furniture, which is furnished by the treasury outside of the appropriation. They must come out of the $15,000 bill now pending, and which our Georgia men ought to see gets through. The gas fixtures will cost between $2,000 and $3,000. Bids have already been received, and the contractors decided upon when the appropriation shall have been made."

As Joe stopped to catch breath, the reporter asked:

well, that will be the iron railing which is to go on two sides of the building The Marietta and Forsyth street fronts will remain as they are; the other two will be enclosed. We are anxious to get into new quarters, because we are made sick in the place."

Just then came along Wallace Rhodes, looking for a fresh chew of tobacco.

"Hello! are you getting dots about the new building?"

"Yes—what about it?"

"Just say we will get there before any of you democrate do!"

It appears that about noon the negro woman visited the residence of Frank Zachrey, on Calboun street, in the fourth ward, and robbed the establishment of a quantity of furniture, some clothing and about thirly dollars in greenbacks. The furniture and other goods stolen from the house were hauled away in a wagon, which she kept standing in an adjoining lot until she was ready to make the raid. The police found some of the goods at West End, where the negro woman had them hid away. The negro woman gives no excuss for the robbery other than that she wanted the property for her own use, and not having any money concluded to steal it.
